

When winter edged the Northern air
And crystals bearded every mouth,
We thought the South was far away,
Soft, erring sister of the South!
We found the breathing north and rain,
And blossoms and the warmest charm!
Thy voice, Carolina,
From thy smiling bosom raised;
But thou canst not captivate the free,
Nor on thy misty mountains dwell;
If thou wilt own them as the peers
Of thy ancestral cavaliers!

Thy wayward temper wouldst thou mend
And Southern manners, Child of the Sun,
The North, a neighbor and a friend,
To the first love would soon be won;
And on thy road of every State
Would bow low to thy Palmetto-queen.

With triumph we are not elate,
Thy will, as well as ours, we sought;
And for the good of every State
Unusually the Federal sought;
Not to enslave, we conquered thee;
Thy spirit will, to us, be free.

Then own thy faults, fair Carolina,
And wear thy water-blooming flowers;
The Bay with the Palmetto twine:
With victory in its banner wave;
With willing subjects, thou shalt be
Queen, Carolina, of the free!

CONGRESS.

SATURDAY'S PROCEEDINGS.

SENATE.—A bill was passed appropriating $5,000 for the National Soldiers' and Sailors' Home. A resolution was adopted continuing all the bills on the calendar to the next session. The rule of the executive session, requiring nominations not acted upon to be returned to the President after the close of the session, was suspended so as to allow nominations now pending in the executive session to be continued until acted upon. A resolution was passed providing for a Joint Special Committee on Education, to be composed of one member from the Senate and one from the House, to inquire into the condition of the public schools in the District of Columbia, and to report thereon to the next session of Congress.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.—The memorial from the Mayor and members of the City Council of Baltimore, asking Congress to assist the people of Maryland to form a State government republican in form and in union with the spirit of the age, was presented by Mr. Thomas and referred to the Committee on the Judiciary. The Senate bill to amend the organic act of Colorado Territory was taken up and passed, and was also several other Senate bills of minor importance. A message was received from the President of the United States, giving his reason for approving the bill amendatory to the supplementary bill for the more efficient government of the Southern States. The Senate resolution authorizing the appointment of a committee to inquire into the condition of the public schools in the District of Columbia, was passed.

At 12 o'clock yesterday, in accordance with the announcement previously sent to Mr. Monroe, the newly appointed Mayor, Hon. Edward Heath, was duly installed as Chief Magistrate of the city of New Orleans. Previous to the appointed hour, there was quite a numerous assemblage in the lobbies and around the City Hall, many of them personal friends of Mr. Monroe, many others attracted by curiosity, and not a few seekers after office—a fact, by the way, which did not surprise any one.

There were everywhere eagerly discussed among counselors, officers of the court, and spectators, and speculations made as to what would be the next changes.

At a quarter past ten his honor Judge W. H. Howe was escorted by ex-Judge Abell through the court room into the judge's private reception room, and a half hour's private conversation followed between the two judges and the old and new attorney general.

After this was done Mr. Trepagnier, the clerk, read the recent military order and the written oath of the new incumbent. Attorney-General Lynch was then sworn in by Judge Howe and the jurists were then dismissed. A member of the bar now asked if a motion would be entertained, and the court answered, none, unless of special importance.

The event was characterized by no exhibition of feeling or anything like a scene, the judge judicially adorning his successor with the judicial ermine (figuratively speaking).

Judge Abell ushered him to his chair with an air which seemed to doubt whether he was doing much of a kindness, and the manners of Judge Howe seemed, by their reserve and reticence, to doubt whether the dignity would not prove of more trouble than it was worth.

Attorney-General Lynch modestly contented himself with a seat among the jurors, and ex Attorney-General Herron occupied his time in quietly sorting his papers and chewing tobacco, with a speculative, musing air, until the arrival of Judge Howe. He had received no notification of the change until Wednesday, between one and two o'clock, at which time he was requested to sign a receipt for the order. He had received at the same time for Judge Abell. He had not been notified of any cause for removal as having recently occurred, and seemed to suppose that some incidents about the time of the July convention might have had something to do with his removal. The court adjourned until Saturday.

NO ELECTIONS IN LOUISIANA.

The following order was issued by Gen. Sheridan on the 28th. It is more especially, says the Times, designed to suspend certain municipal elections in Baton Rouge and one or two other places throughout the State:

HEADQUARTERS, FIFTH MILITARY DISTRICT, NEW ORLEANS, LA., March 28, 1867.

[Special Orders No. 7.]

[Extract.]

2. It is hereby announced, for the information and guidance of all concerned, that no elections for State, parish, municipal or judicial offices, will be held in the State of Louisiana, until the provisions of the law of Congress, entitled "An Act to provide for the more efficient government of the rebel States," and of the act supplementary thereto, shall have been complied with. Until elections are held in accordance with those acts, the law of the Legislature of the State of Louisiana, approved March 15, 1867, which provides for the continuance in the performance of their duties of those persons whose term of office would otherwise have expired, will govern all cases except those which may be specially acted upon at these Headquarters.

By command of Major-General P. H. SHERIDAN.

GEORGE L. HARTSHUFF,
Assistant Adjutant General.
